The Journal of Agricultural Cooperation is a refereed journal published by the American Institute of Cooperation. Its purpose is to encourage research on issues of importance to U.S. farmer cooperatives and provide a forum for the review and exchange of research results among individuals in universities, cooperatives, and government.

The Journal invites manuscripts of practical interest to U.S. farmer cooperatives. Submissions should report results of applied or basic research on economic, legal, or sociological aspects of farmer cooperation. Reviews will be conducted anonymously by members of the respective professions. Articles will be selected on the basis of interest to cooperatives and researchers, originality, and effectiveness of presentation.

Please follow "Guidelines for Submitting Manuscripts." Manuscripts will be accepted at any time. Deadline for submitting manuscripts for the next issue is November 15, 1988, but early submission is encouraged to ensure consideration for the issue. Articles published in the next issue will be subject to a page charge of $40 per printed page. Authors without financial support from an employer may petition for an exemption.

The six articles in this issue were selected from nine manuscripts reviewed for publication. Two papers were invited by the Editorial Board to supplement the topics discussed in the selected articles. Invited papers did not undergo the review process used in selecting the articles.

The Editorial Board wishes to offer their sincere thanks to the following individuals, who reviewed manuscripts considered for this issue:
